

DRINK UP

Walking down the Las Vegas Strip, you see some pretty unusual things — the Statue of Liberty, the Eiffel Tower, a castle and a pyramid all on the same street. But nowhere else in the United States can you see people legally walking down the street with a drink in their hands.

Welcome to Vegas.

If you were in New York nursing a Tom Collins walking down Madison Avenue, you'd get arrested. Here, it's Tuesday.

Not only can you walk around the Las Vegas Strip while drinking, some restaurants and bars have their own glasses that serve both as a container to hold your frozen margarita in and a souvenir to take home to say, "Been there, done that, got the coconut."

Here are some of the wild and wacky souvenir cups seen on the Las Vegas Strip complete with how much the glass holds and how wobbly your walk will be post consumption.

1. Guitar Hero
Booze capacity: 88 ounces
Walk: Zig-zag
Serves: Daiquiris and beer
Available at: The Rockhouse Bar & Nightclub at Imperial Palace
Claim to fame: The only known guitar-shaped specialty cup in Las Vegas, perfect for all your air-guitar needs.
Retails for: $32

2. Hey Mr. Tambourine man (Rio's tambourine)
Booze capacity: 44 ounces
Walk: Stumbling
Serves: Specialty drinks
Available at: The Rio Pool
Claim to fame: The noisiest drink cup on our list, the tambourine drink cup is a musical instrument as well as a fully functional drinking cup. Rest assured, this cup will keep you entertained for hours.
Retails for: $20 for mixed drinks or $25 for frozen drinks.

3. It's big and purple, but NOT Barney
Booze capacity: 100 ounces
Walk: Thanks, but I'd rather sit.
Serves: Any beverage served at Carnival Court
Available at: Carnival Court at Harrah's
Claim to fame: A whopping 100-ounce container straps onto your neck for a hands-free option for your drinking needs.
Retails for: $35

4. Up, up and away! (balloon)
Booze capacity: 25 ounces
Walk: Smooth swagger
Serves: Cocktail of your choice
Available at: E-tour bar, Buffet Bar, Gustav's Bar at Paris Hotel & Casino
Claim to fame: The only ceramic souvenir cup to hit our list, this one's a keeper!
Retails for: $14.99

5. You'll always have Paris (Eiffel Tower)
Booze capacity: 60 ounces
Walk: Zig-zag
Serves: Strawberry daiquiri, margarita or piña colada
Available at: The E-tour Bar, Buffet Bar and Gustav's Bar at Paris Hotel & Casino
Claim to fame: The Eiffel Tower could be the most structurally sound cup on our list. Made entirely of plastic, the cup is shatter-resistant and easy to hold.
Retails for: $14.99

6. I've got a lovely bunch of coconuts
Booze capacity: 14 ounces
Walk: Smooth swagger
Serves: House and specialty drinks, or any other beverage.
Available at: The Mai Tai Bar in Imperial Palace
Claim to fame: Made partially from a real coconut, this drink container is actually hand carved to depict a face and imported from the Phillipines. It also doubles as a coin bank.
Retails for: $10

7. Wastin' away in (or out of) Margaritaville
Booze capacity: 45 ounces
Walk: Stumbling
Serves: Who's to Blame Margaritas
Available at: Jimmy Buffett's Margaritaville at Flamingo
Claim to fame: This glass could be the most efficient one on our list. It has a fairly standard shape and size, it's just enlarged to hold more alcohol.
Retails for: $27.95
